

SPORTS MANAGEMENT/Sport Science, MS

College of Health and Human Services

Accomplish the next step toward earning your master's degree in Sport Science/Sport management.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Courses emphasize sports marketing, facility management, governance, fundraising, sponsorships, and coaching. Students in this track can choose a 36-credit thesis option or a 36-credit non-thesis option. The program allows you to choose from three different tracks of Sport Science, a unique aspect that is rarely offered elsewhere.

- Relevant—Gain experience in your field of choice outside of the classroom with professionals in the area.
- Supportive— Faculty are committed to your success.
- Inclusive—Applicants holding a bachelor's degree in a closely related field can also apply.
- Field-ready - practicum-based courses allow students to work directly with field professionals at on- and off-site locations to practice skills as a preprofessional.

CAREER OUTCOMES

The sport management track prepares you for the business and management aspect of the sport industry. Employment in this field ranges far and wide, such as college and athletic departments, community recreation organizations, minor and major league sport franchises, commercial sport facilities, and golf courses.
