

Coordination with Other Programs

The University School is one of four laboratory schools in the SSHE System. Other lab schools are housed at Shippensburg, Millersville, and Edinboro. Each laboratory school maintains its unique structure, and curricula. For example, Shippensburg, because of its university/public school funded structure, offers a more traditional program. Edinboro focuses on whole language and to a lesser extent, early childhood education. Millersville is an early childhood education center. None of these duplicate what is provided to education majors at the University School.
