Programs in history are designed to give students an opportunity to study in some depth the past story of peoples and their world. Degree programs offered by the History Department are the bachelor of arts degree program in history and the bachelor of science in education degree program in social studies, concentrating in history. The Social Studies Education program prepares students to teach at the junior- and senior-high school levels.

The history student will find that the program is excellent preparation for government service, for pre-law training, for broad business opportunities, for work in varied fields of journalism and public relations, for public history positions, and for teaching. Not only the story of the people of the United States but also that of other peoples is covered, in the belief that global historical understanding is essential for the future of civilization.

Requirements for the bachelor of arts degree program in history are 39 credits in history. Requirements for the bachelor of science in education degree program in social studies, concentrating on history, are a minimum of 30 credits in history within the 57 credits required for social studies certification. For department majors, courses in history in Liberal Studies are applicable only if numbered 300 or higher.

To minor in history, 18 credits of courses with an HIST prefix are required, with at least 6 credits taken at the 300 or higher level and no more than 3 credits taken at the 100 level. No more than 9 transfer credits may be counted toward the minor.

All programs should be planned with an advisor. Every major and concentrate in history will be advised by department faculty members.

Admission to departmental honors, initiation in the local chapters of Phi Alpha Theta and Pi Gamma Mu, participation in study tours and study abroad programs, and other activities should be investigated by every history student. The department is committed to the ideal of a broad liberal arts education.

(*) See requirements leading to teacher certification, titled “3-Step Process for Teacher Education,” in the College of Education and Communications section of this catalog. To student teach, students must have a 3.0 cumulative GPA in their major (social science and history courses). To be licensed to teach, education/history majors must apply for social studies education certification.

- (1) Students are required to take an additional 3cr of MATH beyond the Liberal Studies requirement for a total of 6cr, all of which must be 101 level or above.
- (2) In exceptional cases, the student’s advisor may give special permission to substitute two upper-level courses for one of the foundation courses.
- (3) This requirement may be fulfilled by completing either the departmental honors program or graduate seminar with a concluding paper.

History Honors Track

The honors track is open by departmental permission to history, history/pre-law, and social studies education/history majors with a minimum 3.25 cumulative GPA and a 3.5 GPA in history courses. All students write an honors thesis, which is completed over two semesters under the direction of a department professor who specializes in the student’s area of interest. The thesis is approved by a thesis committee comprising the director and two other readers, one of whom may come from outside the History Department.

Honors students also take HIST 487 (History Colloquium). With approval of the Honors Director, students may substitute a graduate-level Readings or Seminar (HIST 600 or 601) class or an honors (H) designated 300+ history class for HIST 487. All Honors history courses count toward the major.

Students interested in the History Honors Track should discuss this opportunity as early as possible with their advisors. Students may file a declaration of intent during the sophomore year; a formal application for admission must be made, normally early in the junior year. The program is particularly encouraged for students intending to seek admission to graduate or professional schools. Honors coursework is designated on university transcripts; students completing the departmental honors program are recognized at departmental commencement ceremonies.
