

Holocaust Remembrance

April 4th – 14th

April 4 Holocaust Survivor Presentation

Speaker: Moshe Baran

Holocaust survivor Moshe Baran will tell his life story from being a forced laborer to partisan fighter. It is an inspirational story of survival and resistance, with a focus on what people can do to create a more peaceful world.

HUB, Ohio Room

6:00 p.m.

April 12 Film: Shoah

Humanities and Social Sciences Building, Rm B10

7:00 p.m.

A viewing and discussion of an excerpt from Claude Lanzmann's landmark documentary about the Holocaust. Moderators: Tom Slater (English) and Paul Arpaia (History).

April 13 Making Peace in a Violent World

Pratt Hall, Pratt Auditorium

1:30 p.m.

An interdisciplinary panel of IUP faculty, students, and community members discuss problems facing the world today, and what we can do to promote peace. Panelists: Paul Arpaia (History), Charlotte Bellas (First Commonwealth Bank), Michelle Sandhoff (Sociology), and Ronald Jones (Kinesiology, Health, & Sport Science) Moderator: Pearl Berman (Psychology)

Immediately following panel: Standing By; A Playback Theater Encounter, presented by the IUP Department of Theater and Dance Applied Theater Ensemble.

April 14 The Nazi Universe of Camps

Speaker: Martin Dean

Humanities and Social Sciences Building, Rm 126

2:30 p.m.

Most of the Holocaust did not occur in the well known German concentration camps, but in a vast universe of ghettos, forced labor and transit camps, and extermination centers throughout Europe, designed specifically for Jews. Dr. Dean's (United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, DC) discussion will examine the complex relationship between the Holocaust and the large network of Nazi camps.

April 14 Reception with Holocaust Survivors and Scholars

Humanities and Social Sciences Building, Rm 126

3:30-4:30 p.m.

Join us for an opportunity to meet Holocaust Survivors and Scholars, open to everyone (students, faculty, staff, and community).

April 14 Holocaust Remembrance Interfaith Service

Speakers: Cantor Moshe Taube (Schindler's List Survivor) and Shulamit Bastacky

Beth Israel Synagogue, S. 5th and Washington Sts.

5:30 p.m.

As we look back in horror at the Holocaust, still genocide continues. Today we strive for peace, understanding, and healing as we reflect on the inherent worth, dignity, and interconnectedness of all humanity.

Music: Matt Baumer (Music), IHS Chamber of Strings, IHS A Capella Choir

Featured Speakers: Cantor Moshe Taube, Shulamit Bastacky

All events are free and open to the public. Attendance vouchers available.

Events co-sponsored by: Joseph P. Arpaia, MD www.iparpaiamd.com, DRTS Tech Support, First Commonwealth Bank, and IUP Departments, Centers, and Colleges: College of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, Cook Honors College, Center for Student Life, Departments of Criminology, History, Music, Philosophy, Political Science, Psychology, Religious Studies, Sociology, and Theater and Dance. Martin Dean's presentation is made possible by the Campus Outreach Lecture Program of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel Center for Advanced Holocaust Studies, supported by Alan Solomon, MD

Email sshyrock@iup.edu with questions.