

Acey Gongaware
Collaborative Accompanist
Indiana Community Choir
IUP Community Music School

Acey M. Gongaware is a retired choral music teacher from the United School District, having served that district and her students there for over 22 years. Before teaching at United she taught music at St. Bernard Regional Catholic School in Indiana, PA.

She received her music education degree from Grove City College where she was a piano major. Accompanying has always been one of Acey's passions, and her accompanying credits include countless vocal and instrumental recitals and ensembles. For the last several years she has served as both the rehearsal accompanist and now full-time accompanist for the Indiana Community Choir of the IUP Community Music School.

Acey lives in Indiana with her husband Robert. They have 3 adult daughters and 5 precious grandchildren.
