Welcome Class of 2010!

The SAHE program welcomed 35 first year students at July orientation. The class of 2010 is geographically diverse, with students from California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, North Carolina, and Virginia. Students quickly got involved in the program by jumping into class presentations, papers, and discussions. Additionally, assistantship sites, such as IUP, Carnegie Mellon, Lock Haven-Clearfield, Seton Hill, PSU-Altoona, PSU – New Kensington, Clarion, Clarion-Venango, University of Pittsburgh, and UPG have provided challenging and stimulating experiences for the first years. The new class is looking forward to growing and developing as Student Affairs professionals over their next two years while enjoying and expanding SAHE traditions.

Call for Award Nominations!

Last spring, the SAHE department announced the recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award: Dr. Becky L. Verzinski ('94) of Towson University in Maryland. We are now accepting nominations for this year's recipient. This Distinguished Alumni Award is presented to an alumnus of the SAHE department who has been a student affairs professional for at least five years and whose practice reflects the standards and values of the SAHE department. Details on the nomination criteria and process are available on the SAHE website at www.iup.edu/sahe. Nominations are due by January 31, 2009 and the announcement of the recipient will be made prior to and celebrated at the ACPA convention in Washington, D.C. Start thinking about your SAHE colleagues and mentors who are deserving of this recognition and please consider nominating one of them.

ASD Update

Article Submitted by Ryan Cunningham, ASD Vice President of Administration

Working at "Into the Streets"

Greetings from ASD! We are nearing the end of our fall semester and new ASD officers have already been selected. It seems like last years executive board was just elected and here we are at the end of another year.

I am writing to highlight some of the activities that ASD has sponsored or been involved in through this past year. In January we hosted the Comps Breakfast for second years to give them the extra energy they needed to get through a long day of exams. In May, we celebrated the class of 2008 with the SAHE banquet at the Rustic Lodge. Since then we've assisted in welcoming our new class through summer Orientation and SAHE Kick Off the first week of class. In September, ASD helped with "Into the Streets", spending the day volunteering at the Childrens Advocacy Center. In October, we continued the SAHE tradition of 'Brown Bags' and we were pleased to have Tom Baker speak with us. Tom is an '05 SAHE alum and just finished his book Get Involved! - Making the Most Out of Your 20s & 30s. ASD recently kicked off Penny Wars between the first and second years with the proceeds to be donated to the Childrens Advocacy Center and the losing class to enjoy cleaning up from our traditional SAHE/ASD Thanksgiving dinner.

If you are interested in presenting a brown bag, or know of any professional development opportunities for ASD, please contact us. Thanks for reading and Happy Holidays!

SAHE travels to the UK...

Article Submitted by Holly Wilson, '09

This past May, Casey Vargo and I (Holly Wilson) had the opportunity to travel to locations throughout England and Scotland to study Higher Education abroad. Along with other graduate students in several higher education programs throughout the United States, we visited roughly eight universities to meet with members of their student affairs divisions to speak about the services they offer their students.

Among the universities visited were:

- ✦ University of Glasgow
- ✦ York St. John University
- ✦ London Metropolitan University
- ✦ University of Cambridge
- ✦ Wisconsin in Scotland Program
- ✦ University of Edinburgh
- ✦ National Union of Students Main Office

(Alnwick Castle, Alnwick, England. One of the castles where we stayed and also where portions of Harry Potter were filmed)

Along with being a comparative look at higher education practices used throughout the United Kingdom, this unique experience also allowed us to experience the culture and sites throughout the various cities, including London. We also had the opportunity to stay in several castles, including Alnwick Castle, where portions of the movie Harry Potter were filmed!

I would encourage anyone who is interested in studying abroad to look into the many programs that are available. It is a unique opportunity to travel abroad, learn about student affairs in other countries, meet other graduate students from student affairs programs throughout the United States, and possibly earn credits toward your program.

If interested in learning more about this program provided by Bowling Green State University, please visit: <http://www.bgsu.edu/colleges/edhd/hesa/csp/studytour.html>.

Chair's Corner

Dr. Linda Hall

Greetings from SAHE! We are well into the fall semester and both cohorts are working hard to develop as professionals in our field. Thirty-one students comprised our 37th graduating class in May and shortly thereafter, our newly enrolled cohort brought together 35 students from all over the country. Dr. John Wesley Lowery joined us in August and has already added a wonderful new dimension to our program. We are a stable and strong graduate program with excellent students, supportive alumni, and committed faculty. This year is off to a great start!

As the new Chair, I feel challenged and pleased with my new role. I am getting used to lots of meetings again and find that each day I am learning something valuable. It has been gratifying to add this “administrative” component to my role as I work with students, faculty, and others across the college and university. I have truly appreciated the support and important contributions of the three fine faculty in our department. They are a source of energy for me, enthusiasm for our program, and as you know, they all bring exceptional experience, credentials, scholarship, and national visibility to SAHE.

The campus is still undergoing tremendous new construction and major renovation projects—traffic is rerouted almost daily and buildings are being completed in record pace. There is a beautiful new residential area where Mack, Stewart, Turnbull, Wahr and Langham halls once stood—mostly with suite configurations and landscaped beautifully. Esch, Wallace, Pechan Health Center, and Campus Towers were leveled and new structures replacing those will be completed by September. Fisher Auditorium is now connected to Waller Hall, creating the new and wonderful IUP Performing Arts Center. The campus is very different! The SAHE Department is still located in Stouffer Hall and when you are in the area, we hope that you will let us know and stop by for a visit and tour.

From an enrollment perspective, SAHE is on-target with 61 students enrolled. Our students are from 14 states, and represent 41 different undergraduate institutions. We're also pleased to report that 27 hold assistantships at IUP, 26 at other colleges in our region and 3 are employed full time. Carnegie Mellon and Clarion Universities remain our largest external placement sites with 8 and 6 students respectively. We're pleased to welcome the University of Pittsburgh and California University of Pennsylvania as new sites and assistantship partners with SAHE.

We are recruiting for the next SAHE cohort and truly appreciate your referrals. Most of our students report that they heard of SAHE through an alum and often that professional has served as a mentor or supervisor. You are essential to our success! Please refer prospects to me or to our website (www.iup.edu/sahe) and if you would like copies of our poster or of our new Viewbook or other materials to share with interested students, please let me know. We can also be reached through our new admissions email address at sahe-admissions@iup.edu.

It was very special to have so many of our alumni and other friends of the program join us for Dr. Lunardini's retirement dinner in May. It brought many laughs, some tears, and great stories! Of course he is missed by students and faculty alike, and seems to be enjoying his retirement activities. Please see the article by him in this issue of Developments.

We hope that you won't forget to share your updates and accomplishments for inclusion in our departmental publications by notifying me (lmhall@iup.edu) or GA, Ryan Cunningham at r.s.cunningham@iup.edu. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes to you. I hope that you have a great year!

Warm regards,

Linda M. Hall, Ed.D.

Marketing & Recruitment News

Submitted by Jill Johnson-Hilty '10

In 2008, SAHE has participated in a number of Student Affairs career days, conferences, and recruitment fairs held in California, Missouri, Illinois, Maryland, Minnesota, Indiana and Pennsylvania. “Thank You” to alumni (Cherita Weather- spoon '96, Jeff Gerstein '98, Rita Goyette '98, Laura Flynn '05, Sarah Richardson '07, and Heather Storck '08) and current students (Ruben Henao '09, Sam Mucken '09, Tiffany Coffen '09, Kelly Hojnacki '09, and Jill Johnson-Hilty '10) alike for taking their time to promote our Student Affairs program to potential students. Alumni involvement is critical in the recruitment of prospective students. Our admission efforts depend greatly on the assistance of alumni in the field. Students have stressed how instrumental an alumnus has been in their choice to attend the IUP SAHE program. Thank you!

Message from Dr. Lunardini

Hi everyone. I've discovered that there is life after retirement and, that like New Year's resolutions, some intentions for this period are harder to act on than others. My golf game got worse instead of better and I have yet to get to the gym to work out; but, I did get to the beach in September (and July), I enjoyed a fishing trip deep into Quebec despite catching fewer fish than expected, and am regularly enjoying a more leisurely approach to each day.

My retirement celebration in May was a very special and humbling night due to all the alums, friends, colleagues and students who attended. Thank you to everyone who attended or had a role of any kind in that evening!! Shortly after that, we celebrated my son's graduation from the UVA medical school and then his wedding, both in Charlottesville, VA. As I write this, we're only 6 weeks away from my daughter's wedding in Indiana, so life remains busy with family fun.

I continue on the Indiana Borough Planning Commission and will be moderating two symposia (at IUP and Franklin & Marshall College) this fall on Re-inhabiting Campus Neighborhoods. My work with our Cultural Pluralism class has lead to an invitation to discuss race issues and awareness with a church group in Oakmont, PA and I'll be presenting on Student Affairs with Dr. Hall to a doctoral class – so the SAHE-type life continues at least for a little while.

I am truly enjoying life's new pace but I certainly do miss all the wonderful relationships with students and colleagues that were built over my career at IUP. My lunar@auxmail.iup.edu account is still active so please don't hesitate to drop me a note to say hello.

Best wishes to everyone for another fine school year.

SAHE Alumni who Attended

SAHE Alums attend Harvard's Management Development Program

Article Submitted by Dr. Kevin Bailey & Lisa Powers

Faculty Updates

Dr. John Wesley Lowery

Since my family arrived in Indiana at the end of July, I have found myself thinking time and time again that joining the SAHE faculty at IUP was the best decision my family and I have made during my professional career. As I have gotten to know my faculty colleagues and the students in the SAHE program better, I have seen the impressions I formed during my visit to IUP in the spring to interview confirmed. I have begun to meet SAHE alumni during my professional travels and look forward to meeting many more of you over the course of the coming months.

I have spent a great deal of time this semester preparing to teach several new classes, getting to know the students in the program, and learning more about the SAHE program's activities like E-portfolios and Comprehensive Exams. I will also be doing some professional travel for conferences including a keynote address at PCPA and presentations at the NACA Mid American Regional Conference in Peoria, IL and the NASPA/Stetson Student Affairs Law and Policy Conference in Las Vegas. In the spring, I will be presenting at the ASJA Conference in Florida, the Linda B. Floyd & SCCPA Joint Campus Safety Conference in Myrtle Beach, and the NASPA Conference in Seattle. If you are in attendance at any of these conferences please seek me out and introduce yourself. I hope to cross paths with many more SAHE alumni as I travel across the country this year.

I also have several research projects underway about which I am very excited. Along with Dr. Mike Dannells of Eastern Oregon University and Drs Carolyn Palmer and Bill Knight of Bowling Green State University, I am conducting a national study of student conduct practices which will also offer comparisons to practices in the 1970s and 1980s. Dr. Barbara Tobolowsky of the University of South Carolina and I are continuing our work on the representations of higher education in college bowl game commercials with an analysis of the commercials from the Bowl Championship Series games over the past five years. I am also working with several higher education doctoral students at Oklahoma State University to critically examine the representations of fraternity and sorority life in horror films. As you can tell, my research interests are varied and allow me to work with a variety of colleagues across the country, something I highly value as a professional.

I am honored to be part of such a dynamic faculty at IUP and to work with the SAHE program that is widely respected and produces talented alumni who work in a variety of capacities in and outside of higher education across the country and internationally.

Please do not hesitate to call me [(723) 357-4535] at or e-mail me [jlowery@iup.edu], if you have any questions or I can assist you any way.

Dr. John Wesley Lowery

Dr. Holley Belch

Greetings from a cold and blistery Western PA. Fall has definitely arrived yet it also feels as though winter wants to show up a bit early as well.

We have begun the academic year with a new cohort of students and with our re-turning cohort who have transitioned to their second year rather seamlessly. Travels over the summer included participating on the faculty of the Postsecondary Disability Training Institute in Portland, Maine and then on to ACUHO-I in Orlando where I was able to catch up with several alumni attending the conference. Summer also involved teaching a course, working on some research and writing, and vacationing in Vermont and on the beach in Massachusetts.

This year papers to have gotten off to a busy start and I anticipate it will remain so. In the spring, I should be at ACPA in Washington, DC and hope to see many alums there. I hope that you are enjoying your work, living your life to the fullest, and contributing to those around you in a meaningful way!

Dr. John Mueller

Autumn is settling in for several beautiful days here in western PA, and as the days get shorter, I'm reminded how quickly the years fly by now as I start my 10th year in SAHE. This fall began where the summer left off, the highlight of which was singing at an international choir festival in Miami with Pittsburgh's GLBT choir. Once the fall semester began, so much of my time has been occupied with serving as the General Programs chair for the 2009 ACPA convention (along with Jennifer Browning ('04) who is serving as Ancillary Programs chair). Working with over 300 program reviewers and close to 900 program proposals has meant many late nights and several long weekends. Fortunately, I've had wonderful assistance from SAHE students Michele Peterson ('09) and Jill Johnson-Hilty ('10) to help keep everything organized and on track. Those of you planning to attend can expect a great conference experience not only for the program but also for the location of the Gaylord hotel and convention at the National Harbor in metro D.C. I've been to there three times in the last few months and can report that it is impressive in size and appearance, but is also very manageable and has a growing number of affordable food options.

One of the new and exciting things this semester has been welcoming our new colleague, Dr. John Lowery, to the department. We are very fortunate to have him as a member of our community and as part of the legacy of SAHE. I'm also excited to be teaching Cultural Pluralism this fall. Although teaching a course for the first time takes a lot of time and preparation, I was left with plenty of good information and resources from Dr. Lunardini and I have twelve dedicated students in the class who are working with me to create a great learning experience for us all. As the spring semester approaches, I am looking forward to the release of several publications: one is a theory chapter in a book titled, Helping College Students: Developing Essential Support Skills for Student Affairs Practice and the other is a chapter on atheism in a New Directions series titled, Intersections of Religious Privilege: Difficult Dialogues and Student Affairs Practice. I'm also happy to report that Jennifer Cole ('05) and I will have an article on our research on heterosexual consciousness of college students in an upcoming Journal of College Student Development. I hope this year is as gratifying and exciting for all of you. I always look forward to hearing from you and catching up on your lives. I hope to see many of you in Metro D.C. March 28-April 2, 2009!

Nancy Newkerk Awards & ASD Elections

Congratulations go out to the Nancy Newkerk Award recipients, Stanley Horton and Morgan Rizzardi. The Nancy Newkerk award is given to the second year student who demonstrates outstanding contributions to student affairs activities including students, the SAHE program, the institutions they have interacted with and the community. Nancy Newkerk was once again kind enough to attend the program and share her experiences in student affairs with the attendees.

The ASD elections were also held at this award ceremony. The new executive board is as follows:

Karl Bluemel - President
 Craig Pickett - VP Administration
 Mike Mullen - VP Programming
 Jenna Peterson - VP Professional Development
 Brynn Cunningham - VP Public Relations

Congratulations are in order to Stanley, Morgan, and the new ASD executive board!
